New program

To aid mentally retarded pre-schoolers

A new educational program has been inaugurated at DePauw University that is based on the presumption that mentally retarded pre-school children and adults are victims of "an educational vacuum."

The experimental program is aimed at training undergraduate specialists in mental retardation and mental health. It is being supported by Lilly Endowment, Inc.

On-the-job internships, an intense summer session, a core of management-related courses, plus other courses accentuating psychology are all components of the new academic offering.

Bridge delays fire truck

A defective fireplace in the home of David Sult, Route 4, resulted in Greencastle firemen being called at 9:40 p.m. Friday.

Firemen reported there was damage to a carpet in front of the fireplace and also smoke damage.

The Sult residence is located on the road to the county landfill just southwest of the city.

Due to the fact that the old bridge over the Louisville & Nashville Railroad tracks near the Vern Shirley home would not support the heavy fire truck, the firemen had to go to Limesdale, then west and return

Post Office lists new

'no address' procedures

Because of the steadily increasing volume of letter mail bearing no postage found in collection boxes, the procedure for handling such mail is being changed effective November 17, 1974.

Mail matter, of any class, received at either the office of mailing or the office of address without any postage thereon, will be endorsed "return for postage" and returned to the sender. If there is no return address shown, the piece will be sent to the Dead Letter Office and disposed of in accordance with Postal regulations.

Postmaster Bergen asks that everyone take special care to place return addresses on all mail to guard against such happenings.

Endorsed by Santa

President Ford's WIN (Whip Inflation Now) program got its strongest endorsement to date when Santa Claus arrived in Indianapolis for the 25th Annual Christmas Gift and Hobby Show at the State Fair grounds wearing a big WIN button. Jennifer Bly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bly, 7927 Windhill Road, Indianapolis, was one of the many children to climb up on Santa's knee with a "wish list." Santa made a personal appeal to merchants to join him in supporting President Ford's program by voluntarily anteing up 2 percent discounts on Christmas gift merchandise.

"Most special education programs today are interested in school age (5-18) children," Dr. Richard Kelly, DePauw psychologist said. "The pre-school educational interest is in 'normal' pre-schoolers. That leaves an educational vacuum for pre-school age children who have emotional problems, mental retardation, or simply slower intellectual development."

"The same thing is largely true with mentally retarded adults beyond high school age. There just haven't been very many training programs concerned with these two groups," Kelly said.

As a consequence, Kelly continued, there has been a lot of difficulty finding qualified people to staff these agencies that service mentally retarded pre-schoolers and adults.

In DePauw's new program students will meet normal graduation requirements, majoring in psychology. Two summer courses after the first year will emphasize observation and participation at agencies plus traditional classroom lectures and seminars.

Finally, students will enter on-the-job internships that could range from a few days a week to a full semester.

"What we're doing is providing some additional course work and supervised practical experience," Kelly explained. "These will give students some basic skills...to be teachers or administrators for agencies like learning centers, sheltered workshops and Head Start."

Normally, students will enter the program as sophomores.

The seven students in the inaugural program are mostly sophomores and juniors. All are women. Kelly adds they'd like to have some men before enrollment reaches the maximum limit.

Seeds of the current program were planted in 1966 by the National Institute of Mental Health. Grants from the NIMH over a five-year span enabled a total of 60 DePauw students to study one summer with Kelly, Dr. Rex Rector and Dr. Michael Silver of the DePauw psychology department.

Those summers in the classroom and in agencies focused on the problems of cultural deprivation and mental retardation.

"DePauw was one of three universities in the nation selected for those grants," Kelly said. "The NIMH was enthusiastic about the program Dr. Rector and Dr. Silver introduced and the need for improved training in this area."

When Lilly Endowment awarded a $300,000 grant to DePauw for a comprehensive program in business and public service training recently, this program in mental retardation and mental health was launched along with others of a public service nature at DePauw.

Support from the Endowment will provide tuition grants for about 12 students for the summer course work on the campus as well as instructional salaries, according to Kelly.

Thomas

Receives honor

John Thomas (R-Brazil), was selected as Indiana House of Representatives Assistant Minority Leader in a meeting of House Republicans, Friday.

Thomas was selected to the number two ranking Republican post by Kermit Burrous (R-Peru) who was elected House Minority Leader.

Richard Shank (R-Elkhart) was selected as Minority Caucus Chairman.

"I feel very honored to be selected to this position for the next two sessions of the Legislature," Thomas told the Banner-Graphic.

"With House leadership changing over, we are in a position of making constructive criticism and helping the Democratic majority pass legislation which will benefit the entire state," he added.

The Legislature will convene for one day, Nov. 19, after which it will recess until Jan. 6.

Insurance agents

To convention

The Independent Insurance Agents of Indiana, Inc., in conjunction with the Indiana State Police, will host the second annual Golden Eagle and Life Awards Banquet at the Indianapolis Hilton Hotel on Sunday evening Nov. 17. Forty Indiana State Police troopers will be honored for their efforts during the past year in recovering stolen vehicles and apprehensions of drinking drivers.

Guests at the ceremonies will include the award winning officers, their ladies and State Police officials.

"Some of the funds also help us buy books and educational materials like language development kits that we would not otherwise have," he explained.

Kelly and Rector, co-directors, are optimistic students in the program will find outlets for their beefed up training in the new program.

"The prospects look pretty good for this kind of thing. Qualified people are needed in these areas, though there will be competition for these jobs from the overflow of special education people who are not finding jobs in the regular school systems," Kelly added.

"The advantage of our program is that, first, those who enroll know they are interested in pre-school problems, so they are specialists in a sense. Second, they are psychology majors, and I would assume several would go on to graduate school and have other alternatives, perhaps working a couple years and then going on to school psychology, for example."

Efforts are now being made, Kelly said, to inform people already in or interested in mental retardation and mental health about the University's new program.

"We'd like to have people become aware of what we're doing. We want students and potential employers to know that DePauw is a place where they can get this training."

Pension reform law seminar planned

An all-day seminar devoted to the Pension Reform Law of 1974 will be held Dec. 12 at the Atkinson Hotel, Indianapolis. Sponsor is the Indiana Manufacturers Association's Industrial Relations Committee headed by Rodney W. McMullen of Bell Fibre Products Corp., Marion.

The program will be conducted by McCready Engineers, Indianapolis.

Committeemen taking part in the program in addition to Mr. McMullen include Gene Greene, Johns-Manville Products Corp., Richmond, and Richard Williams, P.R. Mallory & Co. Inc., Indianapolis.

Masten, Whaley selected to 'athletes of the year'

Daniel Whaley, 714 Hillcrest Dr., Greencastle, and Kirk Masten, Rt. 4, Greencastle, have been selected to Babe Ruth Baseball's "Athletes of the Year" program for 1974, as announced today by Richard W. Case, president of Babe Ruth International, and Captain John Stevens, manager of Elks Babe Ruth squad.

Nominations for "Athletes of the Year" were made earlier this summer by Babe Ruth league managers and presidents from across the nation. They were invited to nominate candidates with the best records of local achievement on their teams or in their leagues.

Criteria by which these local baseball players were nominated include: the athlete's athletic ability, including statistics and overall performance, sportsmanship, and personal leadership displayed during the current season.

Sponsored by Babe Ruth International, "Athletes of the Year" is an annual honor role paying tribute to the team players from the world's largest regulation baseball activity for young men. The purpose of the program is to promote and encourage the playing of amateur Babe Ruth

Miss Crodian completes sales workshop

Miss Deantha L. Crodian, Route 1, Greencastle, recently completed a two-day sales workshop on automotive department sales at the JC Penney Regional Training Center in suburban Chicago. Miss Crodian is a sales associate at the JC Penney Auto Center in Crawfordsville and joined the company earlier this year.

The workshop covered sales techniques and updated product information on equipment and accessories sold at JC Penney auto centers. Nearly 30 courses for sales, service and management associates are taught.

Baseball among young men between the ages of 13-18 by nationally recognizing each team's outstanding players of the current season.

The athletic achievements of each local honoree will be presented in the 1974 edition of Babe Ruth Baseball's Athletes of the Year Annual to be published in November. This chronicle of the youth baseball season will be on display in the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Symphony concert slated in Terre Haute

The third subscription concert of the Terre Haute Symphony Association's 1974-75 Series to be held Wednesday, November 20, 8 p.m. in Tilson Music Hall will feature Nicolas Chumachenko a very outstanding and distinguished young violinist who has extraordinary achievements to his credit. He will perform with the Terre Haute Symphony Orchestra.

Chumachenko, born in Poland in 1944 and raised in Argentina, now resides in Zurich, Switzerland, where he is concert master of the Zurich Chamber Orchestra.

He comes from a family of professional musicians and he began his violin studies with his father. At the age of 12, he made his debut with the symphony orchestra of the province of Tucuman in Argentina. Following solo recitals, appearances with orchestras, engagements on radio and television, he was awarded a scholarship in 1959 by the Mozarteum Arentino to study with Ljerkó Spiller in Buenos Aires.

Mr. Chumachenko has also studied with two other very eminent violinists: Jascha Heifetz at the University of Southern California and Efren Zimbalist of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia from which he graduated.

He has also won prizes at two of the world's most prestigious competitions: the Tchaikovsky International Competition in Moscow in 1966 and the Queen Elisabeth International Competition in Brussels in 1967. After receiving these awards Chumachenko concertized in North and South America with such notable conductors as Zubin Mehta, Ferdinand Leitner, Edouard van Remoortel, Peter Maag, Fabien Sevitsky, and Vaclav Smetacek.

In 1968, after he had accepted the position of concert master of the Zurich Chamber Orchestra, he had an extended tour of the Soviet Union, obtaining a great success in Moscow and Leningrad as well as in other centers of that country.

In August of that same year he took part in the Israel International Festival of Music, as soloist with the Zurich Chamber Orchestra. In the summers of 1968, 1969 and 1972 he appeared as one of the soloists of the Menuhin Festival in Gstaad, Switzerland.

In 1969, he organized the Chumachenko Quartet which has achieved great prominence throughout Europe. This string quartet, which has already cut its first record, includes in addition to Chumachenko, who plays first violin: Jean Piquet, second violin; Christoph Schiller, viola; and Alexander Stein, cello. Mr. Chumachenko has made several solo recordings with European Recording Companies.

For his appearance with the Terre Haute Symphony on November 20, Chumachenko will play Dvorak's Concerto in A. Minor, Opus 53, for Violin and Orchestra. The Terre Haute Symphony, under the direction of Dr. Victor B. Danek will also play overture and allegro from "La Sultane" Suite by F. Couperin-Milhaud

Patronage dismissal case challenged

A case involving a former six-year employee of the Greencastle highway sub-district is one of others involved in an action to challenge dismissal of patronage workers because they refused to do political work and pay 2 percent party contributions, a spokesman said.

The employee, Jewell Pleake, Stilesville, was a shop foreman who was required to get Republican patronage clearance a third time shortly after he stopped his contributions.

Charles F. Eble, association executive secretary, said Pleake was unable to obtain all eight required signatures on the new set of patronage papers and was dismissed Nov. 11.

The worker, Jewell Pleake of Stilesville, was a six-year employee of the Greencastle highway subdistrict. Eble said Pleake was unable to obtain all eight required signatures on the new set of patronage papers and was dismissed Nov. 11.

Pleake was cleared for the job in March 1973 after GOP Gov. Otis R. Bowen took office, and received a postcard from the Republican State Committee to be used as proof of the approval, Eble said.

He said Republican State Chairman Thomas S. Milligan directed the latest actions, despite instructions from Bowen that no one was to be fired for refusing to make the 2 percent contributions.

Pleake's son, Jerry, a stockroom clerk, also was fired after refusing to make the contributions, Eble said. The father and son were among an estimated 700 highway workers who started withholding the patronage payments two months ago to protest alleged coercion.

Bowen reaffirmed his position Thursday in a memorandum to state department heads and Milligan.

Cubs find some success in gridiron season

Greencastle's Tiger Cubs football team had what many could consider to be an off year this fall in the wake of 1973's perfect 10-0 record and conference championship, finishing at 5-5 and tied for third in the WIC.

However looking back over the season with Cub head coach Gary Cassells one can find a good deal of success in the 1974 Greencastle gridiron effort.

"The ballplayers feel it was not a successful season," related Cassells recently. "But high school players cannot measure the true aspects of success."

To depict those aspects to which the Cubs attained Cassells began his review of the season with the bad start his team had, losing to North Putnam (13-12) and Sullivan (7-6) on either side of a none too impressive victory over weak North Central (20-0).

"The Sullivan game was our low point," the Cub coach said as he remembered the losing battles he and the Cubs fought against both the fired-up Golden Arrows and game officials.

"I hope that I'm never associated with that type of ball game again, one so dominated by the officials. Granted we didn't play so well, but we were five or six touchdowns better than they were. We handled West Vigo easily (26-8) and they beat Sullivan 33-0."

Carrying a 1-2 record and at a low ebb the Cubs found their first taste of real success for the season with a sudden turning around at Danville. Entering the game with the rugged Warriors as two touch-down underdogs the Cubs blew them out, 28-0.

"That was the confidence builder our kids needed. It turned our season around."

Despite being overpowered in their next outing at Plainfield (41-7) the Cubs bounced back to convincingly dispose of West Vigo and Linton (31-0).

With this head of steam up the Cubs then put together what has to be considered their best effort of the year in their homecoming affair, storming back from a 20-6 halftime deficit to come within one yard of upsetting the Clinton Wildcats, one of the best teams in the area.

The Wildcats, who clinched the WIC championship and kept their state playoff aspirations alive with the victory, stopped the Cubs on a two point conversion effort with 1:32 to play in the game to squeak out of Greencastle with a 27-26 verdict.

Even though nailed with their third one point loss of the fall the Cubs bounced back again the following week at Schulte to drop the tough Golden Bears, 16-8, but failed in their attempt for a winning season when Brazil and state scoring champion Bruce Hoopingarner ran through them for a 21-6 season ending defeat.

"I certainly can't feel bad," said Cassells of the season just recounted. "I'm extremely happy with the way the kids came back. There were upsets and disappointments but I think we took what we had and ended up doing the best we possibly could."

Cassells augmented the being so close to an 8-2 season aspect of success when the Cubs attained with a statistical story that came close to duplicating the nearly perfect 1973 version.

In total offense the Cubs came within 200 yards of last year's mark, finishing with 1962 yards compared with 1973's 2146. One of the "great strides" the Greencastle offense made was in the passing department, which though still not providing the desired balance to the attack did nearly double the 1973 output.

The Cubs outscored their opponents 173-125 while the defense shut out victims three times.

In the interesting and perhaps revealing score by quarter statistics the Cubs lost only one overall period, coming up short in the second frame, 35-33. In the first and third quarters the Cubs outscored their opponents 32-28 and 35-28, while exploding in the fourth quarters to gain a 73-34 advantage.

With all these positive statistics, what was it that dropped Greencastle to 5-5 after going undefeated with similar figures?

"One or two things made the difference," explained Cassells. "Breaks: our return yardage on interceptions and punts were down from last year. And penalties in key situations."

The Cubs were hit with 65 penalties this year for 650 yards in losses. In another area of losses the Cub mentor cited the 17 fumbles his offense coughed up, while the defense recovered only 11 to offset them.

To close out the review on a high note, however, the Cubs were in all but two ball games this year when the final buzzer sounded, a far cry from only four years ago when a 50 point beating was not an unheard of occurrence. "The kids never gave up. We never considered ourselves outmanned."

Figuring strongly in the Cubs' success this year was a quartet of seniors who have been four year starters for Cassells, equalling the amount of time he has been at the Greencastle helm.

The Cub mentor summed up the attributes of these team leaders in the following manner:

"Stacy Spencer - the last of a unique running breed at Greencastle in the last four or five years; the same low running style of Kim Jones which is conducive to our type of blocking. Spencer was best at keeping running after he had been hit. His size is a deterrent but his style could enable him to play at some college if his grades are good enough. Defensively he is a good linebacker. Although he got a lot of awards for defense he was a better offensive half-back, a good blocker, too. His loss for the first three games really affected the offense.

"Bill Jeffries - drags people with him at fullback. He is one of the most respected people on the team. He is the most consistent; he always plays well. He had one of the top ratings for being a hard worker in practice; every day he'd put out. That's why he's the kind of ball player he is. He is extremely coachable and extremely smart, in the top ten per cent of his class.

"Rick Wokoun - 90 per cent effective at blocking at offensive guard and center; 65 per cent indicates winning football. One of his biggest attributes is his intelligence. He understands defensive alignments and handled blocking problems in the huddle. He's among the top ten students in his class.

"Phil Fisher - one of the quickest 240 lb. men we've seen; he lulls opponents into thinking he's slow. He was out with a knee injury his sophomore year and missed one game with an injury this year. You have to read quickly as a middle guard, and he did."

With this quartet the Cubs lose another ten gridders to graduation in the spring. Heading this list is quarterback Randy Jones.

"Randy is an excellent field general. He played his first game at quarterback for us at Danville this year, and went on to finish his career there with an 11-3 record. His biggest asset to the ball club was his ability to run the option; that opened up the middle for Spencer and Jeffries. Toward the end of the season we turned the play calling over to him. It was the first time we'd ever done that and he handled it well, particularly that quick kick call at Schulte. It completely surprised me, but it got us out of a hole and helped us win the game.

"Kent Frazier - a very strong athlete. He had an unfortunate injury at Sullivan that forced him to miss four games. He came back to turn in a strong job at defensive end.

"Brian Cross - it took a while to find Brian's true position, but when we did (offensive end) he came up with three big catches, all for 30 yards plus.

"Larry Myers - a real surprise at offensive guard; probably the most improved player on the team. His blocking efficiency came close to 75 per cent.

"Kevin Miller - turned into a ball of fire at guard. It was a big help to him playing next to Wokoun, where we ran three out of four plays to the left. Blocking efficiency of 82 per cent.

"Scott Burk - a funny ballplayer; mental errors hurt his performance but he did a good job at defensive end.

"Mark Hamm - the two years he sat out hurt him but we could depend on him as a guard that ran in plays.

"Terry Taylor - the same classification as Hamm; his lack of experience and knowledge of the game hurt him but he's a good athlete and was our number two linebacker.

"Rick DeVlyder - performed at defensive halfback as one of our three man rotation. He enabled us to keep one fresh man in at all times.

"Kenny Barger - came out late and played second team for us."

With these ball players the Cubs will also probably lose defensive co-ordinator John "Wizard" Riggs, who may begin a full time career in writing soon. Riggs' mastery, along with offensive co-ordinator Dick Crawley's help were invaluable assets to Cassells this year, as they have been in the past seasons.

In addition Cassells cited the work of freshmen coaches Dan Layton and Doug Miller and student assistant Dave Tanner.

Affording a quick look to next fall Cassells noted the large junior group coming back, 23 of them which include 14 lettermen.

"This will be the biggest nucleus ever for Greencastle. They could have a great season if they are willing to work hard, if they don't allow themselves to be content. But I don't think they will allow themselves that. The group reminds me a great deal of the seniors last year. They're a large group and they're close.

This is surely a sign for renewed encouragement for

Cub fans, who, even though they may have been disappointed at times this fall, witnessed enough good football to afford pride in their team."

Three unbeaten head Roachdale cage loop

The Roachdale Independent Basketball League finished its second week of play with three teams still unbeaten.

Hendricks Telephone Corporation of Roachdale ran its record to 2-0 with a convincing 104-81 decision over Roachdale Optimists Club. HTC forward Larry Grimes (ex-Crawfordsville and Michigan Tech star) led the winners with 33 points.

Ron Richardson (Russellville) added 16 and Chuck Lyons (North Putnam) hit for 15 points. Kenny Houser (North Putnam) led the losers with 36 points. Fred Cox (Mississippi) had only 9 points and later admitted that his conditioning wasn't what it should have been. Look for better things from Big Fred as the season progresses.

Danville easily defeated Bainbridge also in Thursday night action. Ken Alexander had 31 points and Donny Dugan added 24 for the winners. Mike Elliot (Bainbridge) had 24 and Phil Reed (North Putnam) 18 for Bainbridge.

Indy Washington, Blackford, Garrett capture state football championships

By MIKE HARRIS
AP Sports Writer

Kevin Weatherby had just scored the final touchdown in his team's 19-12 Class AAA Indiana high school football playoff title game Friday night.

As his Indianapolis Washington teammates mobbed him, jumping and shouting for joy, one adult spectator sitting on the winning side smiled contentedly and said, "That's Superette '74 out there."

Bill Doba, the young but veteran coach of the losing Mishawaka Cavemen said it another way:

"They're well coached and well disciplined, but we helped them beat us."

It wasn't sour grapes. The battle of the big schools in Hoosier prep football was an evenly matched affair that wasn't decided until Weatherby crossed the goal line with 16 seconds remaining on the North Central High School Field scoreboard.

That touchdown capped a methodical 83-yard drive that began just three plays into the final period and shaved nearly 10 minutes off the clock as the Continentals protected a 13-12 lead.

And, while Washington was wrapping up its 18th straight victory and ending Mishawaka's 10-game string before a standing room crowd of more than 11,000 and television audiences in the capital city and in the South Bend-Mishawaka area, two other championship games were played.

Eighth-ranked Blackford closed out a perfect 12-0 season with a 28-14 thumping of Boonville for the AA title it lost in last year's finale.

Garrett's 16th-ranked Railroaders finished at 11-0 by stopping North Knox 20-6 for the A division title.

But, as good as those other two games were, it was the Washington-Mishawaka game that captured the fancy of most of the state's football fans.

The story of the game was actually the domination of the Continental rushing game. Weatherby, the Indianapolis scoring champion, halfback Ricky Smith and fullback Earl Branson punished the Cavemen defense for 239 yards on the ground.

And, to show their versatility, quarterback Danny Butler added 107 yards on four of five passes, including a 33-yard strike to Armond White that gave the Continentals a 7-0 lead in the second period.

Two first half fumbles, both in Washington territory, kept Mishawaka away from paydirt, but a blocked punt by linebacker-halfback Chuck Alexander set up the first Cavemen touchdown with just 10 seconds left in the half.

Quarterback Dale Moore passed 10 yards to split end Mike DeGeeter on the first play and it was 7-6 at the half.

A Moore-to-DeGeeter pass good for 56 yards and the running of Alexander gave Mishawaka a 12-7 lead with 3:34 left in the third period, with Alexander going the final two yards.

But the Continentals roared right back, 70 yards in five plays for the go-ahead score. Butler hit Darrell Sides with a 48-yard pass on the drive and Smith went the final 12 yards.

Washington's defense bent but didn't break as it gave up 115 yards rushing, 94 by Alexander, and 94 yards in the air as Moore completed five of seven passes.

Weatherby wound up with 120 yards. Branson with 74 and Smith 52 for the Continentals, who finished the season 12-0. Mishawaka, which hadn't lost since its opening game against Penn, ended the season at 10-2. "Both teams were great," said Washington Coach Bob Springer. "Both hit hard and were alert, but we have been a great second half team."

Both the Blackford and Garrett victories reflected the work of a super back.

Blackford's Bud Brown, a senior, pounded for 135 yards and three touchdowns, including two in the fourth period after Boonville recovered from a 14-0 deficit to tie the game in the third period.

Brown scored on runs of 4, 44 and 4 yards, while fullback Chris Baker scored the other touchdown on a 15-yard scamper. Both Pioneer touchdowns came on runs by fullback Jeff Stevens, who totaled 105 yards in 19 carries.

Garrett's 6-foot-3, 205-pound junior halfback Paul Yarian blasted for 208 yards and three touchdowns in 27 carries, 157 of that in the first half as the Railroaders built a 20-0 lead. Curt Kixmiller finally got North Knox on the scoreboard in the second half, but a combination of three first half fumbles and two second half interceptions kept the Warriors from threatening most of the way.

Yarian's scores came on runs of 8, 32 and 4 yards, while Kixmiller, who rushed for 46 yards in 17 carries and caught three passes for 63 yards, ran in the only North Knox score from the six.

Boonville closed its season at 10-2, while North Knox finished at 9-3.

For Blackford's Bruins, the victory was a sweet followup to last year's runnerup finish to Greenfield Central.

Those three games closed out the second annual 12-team state grid playoffs, but Phil Eskew, commissioner of the Indiana High School Athletic Association, has indicated in recent weeks that the IHSAA Board of Control may take steps before next season to double the number of teams participating in the playoffs.

However, he added, "There were only two repeaters (Blackford and Greenfield) in the tournament field this year. That means 22 teams have participated in two years—and I like that."

On Jo Jo's final drive

Kings stop Celtics forcibly

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn cried foul because official Mark Schlafman wouldn't.

With his Celtics trailing 110-109 and six seconds showing on the clock Friday night, Heinsohn watched Boston guard Jo Jo White drive three-quarters the length of the court against Scott Wedman of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings.

White went up for what would be a game-winning layup, but the ball missed everything, hitting neither basket nor backboard. Heinsohn waited for a foul to be called on the play.

No call. KC-Omaha wins.

And that's when Heinsohn cried foul.

"When you drive to the hoop like that for the last shot and there's no foul, I'm a monkey's uncle," Heinsohn said, visibly angry.

Elsewhere in the National Basketball Association Friday night, the Washington Bullets beat the New Orleans Jazz 104-95, the Detroit Pistons stopped the Seattle SuperSonics 117-103, the Chicago Bulls defeated the Phoenix Suns 102-95 and the Los Angeles Lakers topped the Philadelphia 76ers 105-99.

In the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars whipped the New York Nets 109-98 and the Denver Rockets beat the Indiana Pacers 120-114.

"Wedman not only had Jo Jo on the wrist, he had him on the whole thing, the whole body. It was Schlafman's call and he didn't want to call it," Heinsohn fumed.

The Kings took an early 15-point lead in the game, then watched the Celtics come back for a 109-106 lead with 2:39 to play. But that was all Boston could manage, and it was not enough as Jimmy Walker hit a basket with 2:24 to play and Larry McNeill sank two free throws at 1:37 to put the Kings on top.

Nate Archibald scored 29 points and backcourtmate Walker hit for 23. Boston's John Havlicek led all scorers with 30.

Elvin Hayes erupted for 34 points to pace Washington past the expansion Jazz, but the big excitement there came with three minutes left in the third quarter, when New Orleans' guard Pete Maravich was ejected from the game for protesting an official's call too vehemently.

Bob Rakek, the official, nailed Maravich for one technical for the protest and another when the confrontation became a nose-to-nose shouting match.

The Pistons held Seattle to 33 points in the first half, rolled up a 99-63 lead after three periods and coasted to victory. John Mengelt had 20 points and five other Detroit players scored in double figures.

Chet Walker scored 27 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to power the Bulls past Phoenix.

Lucius Allen, obtained from Milwaukee last week, scored 24 points for Los Angeles and triggered the Lakers' fast break. He also came up with eight steals.

Ron Boone's 32 points helped Utah beat the Nets, who were playing their third road game in three nights the third period which was sparked by Billy Keller's four three-point baskets.

Keller scored 16 points in the third quarter and finished the night with 20. Kevin Joyce of the Pacers was the game's high scorer with 24 points, while Denver's Mike Green and Mack Calvin had 23 apiece and Bobby Jones added 21.

Ties highlight NHL action

By The Associated Press
Philadelphia did it early in the third period while Los Angeles came through in the final two minutes of its game. But both the Flyers and the Kings were only able to survive their National Hockey League battles with ties.

Philadelphia battled evenly with the Atlanta Flames 2-2 while Los Angeles and the Vancouver Canucks also tied 2-2.

In other NHL games Friday, Kansas City defeated the New York Islanders 4-2 and Toronto topped California 5-3.

In the World Hockey Association, Edmonton edged Toronto 5-4, Winnipeg crushed Indianapolis 5-0 and Cleveland beat San Diego 5-3.

"We played well enough to win," Philadelphia Flyers' Coach Fred Shero said. Atlanta felt the same way.

Orest Kidrichuk scored early in the final period to pull the Flyers into their 2-2 deadlock and extend Philadelphia's unbeaten string to 10 consecutive games. The Flames had jumped out to a 2-0 advantage on goals by Buster Harvey and Tim Ecclestone. Rick MacLeish scored the Flyers' first tally.

The Philadelphia-Atlanta

battle pitted the top two teams in the NHL's Division 1.

Los Angeles, the Division 3 leader, needed a goal from Frank St. Marseille with less than two minutes remaining in the contest to knot the score with Vancouver, No. 1 in Division 2.

Vancouver could manage just one shot on goal in the second period, but held a 2-1 lead after Bobby Lalonde scored just eight seconds into the final period. That left it for St. Marseille's heroics as the period was running out.

Two goals in the final five minutes by Simon Nolet lifted the Kansas City Scouts to their victory over the Islanders. Nolet, who also had an assist on the Scouts' second period goal, put Kansas City ahead when he beat goalie Glen Resch with 4:44 left in the game. His second goal came into an open net with six seconds to play.

Three goals by Toronto's Bill Flett, one in each period, powered the Maple Leafs to victory over the California Golden Seals. The win also boosted third-place Toronto three points ahead of California in the NHL's Division 4.

California took a 3-1 lead in the opening period while Toronto had a man in the penalty box. But Flett's second-period goal and Ron Ellis' eighth goal of the year knotted the count. Flett's game-winner came four minutes into the third period and Darryl Sittler added an insurance tally.

Ernie Wakely, making only his second start of the season at goalie for Winnipeg, stopped all 39 Indianapolis shots, and power play goals by Larry Hornung and Anders Hedbert in the opening period started the Jets on their way to victory. Winnipeg broke the game open with goals within a three-minute span of the third period by Duke Asmundson, Ulf Nilsson and Veli Ketola.

Ray McKay, Don Herriman and Ron Climie all scored within a span of 2:11 in the second period to spark Edmonton's victory. It was the fifth straight win for the Oilers, who outshot the Toronto Toros 44-22 in the game.

Richard Faria had two goals for the Toros.

Ron Ward pulled Cleveland into a 3-3 tie with his first goal of the night, then scored the winning goal for the Crusaders minutes later. Tom Edur tallied Cleveland's insurance point in the third period.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law has a habit of barging into our bedroom (and even the bathroom, if it's not locked) to "talk" to Jerry. (He's my husband.)

Yesterday she barged into our bedroom while Jerry was dressing, and he didn't have a stitch on.

I said in a nice way, "Mother, you really should knock first and ask Jerry if he is presentable." Then she said, "Oh, don't be silly. I used to diaper him!"

What are your view on the subject? CHICAGO WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Same as yours. But it's up to Jerry to tell his mother to knock first. (If she breast-fed him when he was a baby, would that give him the right to barge in on HER when she's topless?)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old mother of a two-year-old daughter. My husband has been urging me to have another child since our daughter was born. He was very disappointed that she was not a male, and this hurt me. Although he loves the girl, he still feels that he is missing something by not having a son. He thinks I am selfish for not wanting another child, but here are my reasons.

1. All during my pregnancy (not only in the morning) I was in a constant state of nausea.
2. We live 400 miles away from our parents, and I have no one to help me with the chores of child rearing.
3. There is always the possibility that the second child would be another girl. My husband says he wouldn't keep trying for a boy but he'd like one more chance.
4. I want to return to work when my child is of school age, and another child would postpone it to a later date.

I am a good mother, Abby, and I'm very happy with one child. We have talked it out, and are both immovable. I know that I have the final say, but he makes me feel so guilty that at times I'm almost ready to give in, and yet I don't know if it would be the best thing for me or the child.

What is the solution, if there is one? MRS. X, JR.

DEAR MRS. X, JR.: Feeling as you do, don't "give in." If you had another child in order to accommodate your husband or to relieve your "guilt," you would resent the child for the above reasons and children sense resentment. Have you considered adopting a boy your daughter's age? No nausea, no gambling on the sex, no time lost in returning to work. And you'd be giving a good home to a little boy who needs one.

DEAR ABBY: I have just returned from a baby shower where the family dog was allowed to wander around among the guests. The dog is very friendly and quite lovable, so nearly all the guests petted him, and the dog licked their hands. This included people who were preparing and serving the food, as well as those who had their fingers in the candies, handling baby presents, etc.

I noticed that after playing with the dog nobody washed their hands before eating.

We teach children to wash their hands before they eat. Doesn't that go for dog-lovers, too? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: It should, but for some reason most dog-lovers do not feel contaminated after playing with a dog.

DEAR ABBY: I like the way you remind your readers to be a little more patient with their elderly parents.

My mother is an 88-year-old widow who doesn't need any extra patience as yet, and I doubt if she ever will.

She reads and writes in seven languages, and proof-reads the Hebrew lettering for marble tombstones. Mom owns a duplex. She lives downstairs, alone, and rents the upstairs to a 92-year-old retired sea captain named Jack. Jack is bright, alert and sharp as a tack.

The other day when my brother Dave was visiting our mother, in his cute and kidding way he said, "Ma, what's this I hear about you fooling around with Jack?"

With a twinkle in her eye, Mom shot back, "Don't worry, son, I'm on the pill!"

SIDNEY R. IN BRANDON, VT.

DEAR SIDNEY: Thanks for sharing a cheerer-upper.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

College football turned into 'big business' by television

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

The magic eye of television has made football a big-time business on the college campuses of America.

Penn State University, for example, will earn more than $1.1 million this season from four football games — two regionally telecast games worth $180,000 each, a Thanksgiving night game against the University of Pittsburgh in Three Rivers Stadium that will pay $244,000 and a Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl date worth more than $500,000.

The Thanksgiving night game against Pitt was originally scheduled on the following Saturday at Pitt Stadium. By switching sites and allowing television to tune in, both schools will clear more than $200,000 in profits, considerably more than they could have expected to earn at Pitt Stadium.

The key word here is television. Pitt and Penn State will be providing perhaps three hours of prime-time entertainment and, at today's rates, the half-million dollars or so that goes to the two schools is a reasonable price for filling that much network time.

"We figure about $200,000 per hour to produce a regular filmed show," said one television executive. "That would include rerun rights which are not applicable to football."

TV keys

film. It boasts an absolutely superb performance by Marlon Brando as the aging head of a powerful Mafia clan, and fine performances from the supporting cast, especially Al Pacino playing Brando's youngest son. Based on the best-selling novel by Mario Puzo, this is one of the few times where the film is an improvement on the book. 9:00 PM (2-6)

WEEKEND. NBC's late-night, magazine-of-the-air, is definitely adult stuff tonight, especially the segment on Hugh Hefner's "Playboy" empire, with its emphasis on the lushly luxurious grounds of his own estate, and the equally lush nude figures of candidates for "playmate-of-the-month," among other items of note. Don't miss a most engaging glimpse of endlessly munching Scottish folk, 44 percent of whom have upper and lower artificial teeth, because of their penchant for chewing everything sweet in sight. For the rest, there's a distressing portrait of the methods of education employed in a school of the Hare Krishna movement, which desperately needs government inspection; and a report on the diminished status of the Taiwan Embassy in Washington. 11:30 PM (2-6)

SUNDAY
THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF DISNEY. "THOSE

CALLOWAYS." Part II. (Repeat). After watching son Bucky Calloway do such a good job outdoors taking his father's place trapping furs, lad luck overtakes the family in this 1969 outing. Everything goes to pot in the middle portion of this three-parter, with the Calloways about to lose the house, paving the way for an upbeat ending with the family vowing to stick together. The attractive cast makes it all believable, while Bucky's battle with a wolverine supplies the chief suspense. 7:30 PM (2-6)

McCLOUD. "THE 42nd STREET CAVALRY." At the root of this tale, there's a robbery of countless weapons from a service armory by three down-and-out desperate characters who've been promised big money by a shrill from the revolutionary unit who hired them. What will hold your interest, however, is the ingenuity of script writer, Michael Gleason, and his plan to get Marshal McCLOUD into action, once the marshal has been assigned to the Mounted Police just to get him out of everybody's hair. To round out a two-hour show, there's a farfetched but pleasant bit of byplay between McCLOUD and a policeman who has volunteered for mounted police duty but is scared to death of horses. 8:30 PM (2-6)

Who's news

Thirty-four Manchester College seniors recently began student teaching in schools scattered around northern Indiana. In this group are 12 students who'll become certified to teach in elementary schools and 22 preparing for secondary school work.

From this area is MARY ADAMSON, Greencastle Sr. H. School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Adamson, R. R. 4, Box 235, teaching at Wabash City Elementary under Don Baer.

Two students from Putnam County are freshmen enrolled in the Ball State University Program for 1974-75.

These freshmen rank among the upper 12 percent of incoming students and were selected upon the basis of their high school rank, scores from a battery of college entrance examinations, high school grades, and recommendations from high school teachers and principals, according to Dr. Warren Vander Hill, director of the university's Honors Program.

Students include: BRENDA S. ANDIS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Andis, Route 3, Greencastle, majoring in computer science and JEANNA K. CLODFELTER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Clodfelter, Route 1, Roachdale, majoring in elementary education.

A veteran pilot, author of flight manuals and authority on spins, William K. Kershner of Sewanee, Tenn., will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting planned for Thursday, Nov. 14 by the aerospace fraternity at Indiana State University, Alpha Eta Rho.

The group of new pledges to be welcomed at the dinner includes GARY ZEINER, Round Barn Road, Greencastle.

SHERRY AND ALLEN SEWARD are the new owners and managers of the Seward's General Store in Center Point. Seward's have recently moved to Center Point from Brazil. Their business is the former Boyce store there. Sherry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brannon of Fillmore. Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Seward of Rockville.

Their grand opening is the week of Nov. 18, it was announced.

How to keep well

Hair transplants

By T.R. Van Dellen, M.D.
(c) 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

World Rights Reserved

Each hair follicle is genetically predisposed, and its reaction to androgens (hormones) determines whether hair will or will not grow on your head. Since the response to androgens is programmed through heredity, little can be done about the hair patterns that develop on the head, chin, arms, legs, chest, armpits and elsewhere.

Dr. Norman Orentreich, New York dermatologist who devised the hair transplant technique, believes that once we are able to control the chemical effects of androgens on hair follicles, all other hair restoration methods will be obsolete.

Hair transplantation done by a trained surgeon carries an almost 100 per cent success rate. Dr. Orentreich estimates that more than a million persons have had hair transplants. Poor results have been reported when the practitioner lacks skill or does not follow directions to the letter.

Follicles for transplant are obtained from areas of the scalp that rarely, if ever, become bald, such as the sides and back of the head. A special circular cutter is used to make several openings in the bald area. Similar size plugs, or tufts of hair, and their follicles are then removed and inserted in these openings.

From 10 to 50 or more plugs are grafted at one sitting. Each plug contains eight to 15 hairs, depending on the texture of the hair. These are so small, that 20 to 2 of them could fit into a square inch.

One dermatologist has developed a power-driven cutter or plugger, which makes the procedure less tedious for the operator and the patient.

There is some disagreement on whether front area baldness should be covered first to create a new hairline before filling in the back part. Some technicians start in the back and proceed forward.

A poorly-placed hairline is one of the biggest problems since the head changes as the person grows older. Obviously, a 50-year-old man would look ridiculous with the hairline of a 20-year-old.

PERSISTANT FATIGUE
S.N. writes: My doctor told me a year ago that I had narcolepsy. He's been treating me with different medicines, but I'm still tired. Do you think I should get another opinion?

REPLY

Yes I do, and preferably from a nerve specialist. Narcolepsy (an uncontrollable desire to sleep at the drop of a hat) usually responds to a stimulant, such as an amphetamine. Since you have been taking medication for a year and are still tired, there may be another cause of your fatigue, such as sluggish thyroid gland.

WHITE PATCHES

Mrs. J.J. writes: My neighbor's 3-year-old daughter has leprosy on her arms. Will these white spots go away in time?

REPLY

Has the diagnosis been confirmed? The reason I ask is that leprosy is not common in children and white spots are not the usual manifestation of this condition.

HIGH-FAT DIET

Mrs. C.V.J. writes: A friend of mine has been on a high-fat diet (self-imposed) for quite a long time. Could she develop diabetes as a result?

No. But a high-fat diet can increase the blood cholesterol, encourage hardening of the arteries and could lead to ketosis, an acid condition. (Incidentally, obesity often precedes diabetes in a person predisposed to the disease, but obesity is not the cause.)

Opening lead—two of hearts.

Declarer frequently finds it difficult to manage the play when he has a margin of only seven trumps to the opponents' six.

Consider this deal from a match between France and the United States. At the first table the French North-South pair got to four hearts, which failed when the trumps proved to be divided 5-1.

West led a heart to the ace and East played the ace and another spade, ruffed by South.

Declarer led a trump to the king, East showing out, and continued with the A-K and another diamond, ruffing with dummy's last trump. Declarer could now score only a heart and a club and went down three for a loss of 300 points.

The American North-South pair at the second table got to a far better contract on this sequence:

South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♦ Pass 2 ♥ Pass
3 ♣ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
5 ♣

Declarer would ordinarily have made five clubs, losing only a spade and a heart, but he went down one due to the combination of a 5-1 heart break and exceptionally good defense.

East led the ace of hearts and boldly shifted to a low spade at trick two. West won with the queen and had no difficulty diagnosing his partner's reason for underleading the ace of spades. He returned a heart, which East ruffed, and declarer lost three tricks before even getting the lead.

The U.S. team gained 200 points on the deal, but they would have registered a much larger profit for getting to the best contract had the French defense against five clubs not been ultra-perfect.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

As a first-grade teacher, I try to keep children busy while helping them grow in ability.

One activity I use is simple and would be, I think, good for mothers as children like to do things at home.

I made colorful beads from cut macaroni by dipping it in a mixture of different food colors and water. Then I drained it, until completely dry, on newspaper in the sun and kept it in small jars.

At school it was strung on precut lengths of lightweight string, the ends of which I made stiffer with glue.

I see no reason why larger macaroni could not be used for smaller fingers.

I adore your column. Sandra

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Rev. Thomas raises a red-hot issue that has caused feuding among Christians. It also has confused many converts. Do you believe baptismal water acts as a detergent or a symbolic cleanser?

CASE B-696: Rev. Thomas, aged 55, is a Methodist clergyman.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I follow your 'Worry Clinic' faithfully and admire your stress on simple language."

"Plus your urging people to employ 'House Sense' in all matters, including even religion."

"For unnecessary feuding between various Christian denominations is often ludicrous."

"And confuses many would-be converts in foreign lands."

"For some missionaries tell the natives they can't go to heaven unless they are baptized by total immersion in water."

"Our Methodists, as well as Catholics and Presbyterians, prefer sprinkling, though we give our new members their option."

"And some denominations baptize by pouring, which was the ancient Hebrew method of anointing kings."

"Actually, isn't baptism merely a visual external symbol of an inner change of heart?"

"Once you mentioned in this connection that the Arabic number '1' means the same whether in 8-point type or extending one mile high upon the face of a mountain."

"For the amount of ink in the Arabic number '1' doesn't make it '2' or '5' or any other number."

"It is still the same regardless of size."

"Well, isn't baptism in that same category?"

"For the water itself doesn't erase sins, even if full of all the latest modern soaps and detergents!"

"So why make such a crucial issue out of whether a penitent new convert is baptized by sprinkling or pouring or total immersion?"

"When Jesus thus went down into the water of the Jordan River to be baptized by John the Baptist, that doesn't mean he was immersed."

"For John had no basin or even a pitcher or tincup to carry water to shore, so it was natural that he stand in the water, probably to his knees, so he could dip up water in his cupped palm, to pour or sprinkle on the heads of his converts."

"Furthermore in the 16th Chapter of Acts, when an earthquake freed Paul and Silas and the jailer was going to kill himself because he thought the prisoners had all escaped, Paul restrained him."

In memory

In loving memory of Bernard Shinn, who passed away Nov. 16, 1965.

At night the stars shine down on

A grave not far from here

Where sleeps the one we won't forget,

And always loved so dear.

No one knows how much we miss him,

No one knows the bitter pain

We have suffered since we lost him

Life can never be the same.

In our hearts his memory lingers

Sweetly, tender, fond and true.

There's not a day dear Bernard

That we do not think of you,

Though your smiles are gone forever,

And your hands we cannot touch,

We will never lose sweet memories

Of the one we loved so much

Sadly missed by,

Wife Ruth
